Health Department warns of another beef recall

The Kane County Health Department announced today that Cargill Meat Solutions Corporation is voluntarily recalling approximately 845,000 pounds of frozen ground beef patties produced at its Butler, Wis., location because they may be contaminated with E. coli O157:H7.

The frozen ground beef patties were produced on various dates from Aug. 9 through Aug. 17, 2007, and were distributed to retail establishments, restaurants and institutions nationwide. Each label bears the establishment number "Est. 924A" inside the USDA mark of inspection.

"E. coli O157:H7 is a potentially deadly bacterium that can cause bloody diarrhea and dehydration," said Kane County Health Department Director Paul Kuehnert. "The very young, seniors and persons with compromised immune systems are the most susceptible to foodborne illness."

The problem was discovered through an investigation into three illnesses by the Minnesota Departments of Health and Agriculture. These are the only illnesses reported to date. While the investigation is ongoing, Cargill is voluntarily recalling the products based on a preliminary analysis of epidemiological data. Anyone concerned about an illness should contact a physician.

Products distributed to retail establishments and subject to recall:

- 6-pound boxes of "American Chef's Selection Angus Beef Patties 18-1/3 Pound Patties." Each package bears a case code of "7703100" and various package codes of Best If Used By dates of "02/05/08," "02/06/08," "02/12/08," and "02/13/08."
