Firm recalls Sour Cream & Onion Kettle Chips due to possible contamination

Deep River Snacks of Deep River, Conn., is issuing a voluntary recall for certain Sour Cream & Onion Kettle Chips after being informed by an ingredient supplier that buttermilk powder used in the seasoning may contain traces of Salmonella. Although no pathogenic bacteria have been found in any of our ingredients or in any of the Deep River Snacks products, the company decided to recall products that were produced using the affected ingredient from this supplier. No illnesses or adverse health effects resulting from these events have been reported to date.

The product was distributed nationally through retail and foodservice outlets. The following items and best by dates are affected by this recall:

- Deep River Snacks Sour Cream & Onion Kettle Chips 2oz 850668000498 11/9/16 to 6/2/17
- Deep River Snacks Sour Cream & Onion Kettle Chips 5oz 850668000993 11/9/16 to 6/2/17
- Deep River Snacks Sour Cream & Onion Kettle Chips EXPORT 5oz 850668000993 11/9/16 to 6/2/17

The item UPC number can be found on the back of the bag underneath the bar code. The best by date can be found printed on the front of the bag, in the upper right quadrant near the Deep River Snacks logo. The best by date is printed in the format: DD MMM YYYY (e.g. 10 DEC 2016).

Salmonella is a bacterium that can cause diarrhea, fever, and abdominal cramps and most individuals recover without treatment. In some cases, diarrhea may be so severe that the patient needs to be hospitalized. The elderly, infants, and those with impaired immune systems are more likely to have a severe illness.

As a precaution, any consumers that have either of the products described above should immediately discontinue use of the product and contact the company at 860-434-7347, Monday through Friday between 9-5pm EST. For more information, please visit DeepRiverSnacks.com.
